

Temporary Gathering Places/Evacuation Shelters/Evacuation Sites by Town Council

Make sure you know in advance the locations you may evacuate from home, in case an earthquake threatens your safety and forces you to evacuate.

Temporary Gathering places

A place to get together to evacuate to evacuation shelters and locations when your home is in danger of fire or collapse, and you cannot shelter in place.

Designated by neighborhood associations. Names etc. of the boards located in each neighborhood will be amended to match the disaster prevention map after April 2026.

Evacuation Shelter

A place for Taito City residents who have become unable to live in their homes due to fire spread or house collapse to take shelter for the time being. Locations designated at elementary and junior high schools in the City.

Evacuation Location

A place to evacuate when your home, temporary gathering spots, and evacuation shelters have risks of fire. Evacuation locations in Taito City: Ueno Park area, Yanaka Cemetery, Sumida Park area, all designated by the Tokyo Metropolitan Government.

Areas Where Evacuation is not Necessary

Areas (shown in diagonal lines on the map) where more buildings are fire-resistant, and even in the event of a fire breakout, there is no risk of major spread within the area, and there is no need to evacuate extensively.

Evacuation Road

A road to evacuate safely to the designated evacuation site for people who are forced to evacuate a long distance to the evacuation site, or who live in areas with high risks of fire spread. Designated evacuation roads in Taito City are: Kototoi-dori Ave., Showa-dori Ave., Kuramaebashi-dori Ave., etc.

About the color coding used in hazard maps

Locate your evacuation shelter

Evacuation shelters are designated by the neighborhood associations; you cannot evacuate unless you live in the neighborhood.

This disaster prevention map is color-coded by the target area of the evacuation shelter. Locations with the same color as your neighborhood are the evacuation shelters you can evacuate to.

*Note: In some areas, area colors overlap with the colors that show the evacuation sites.
